WASHINGTON! September 15 .-- In the Supreme Court to-day the coun sel for Miner and Rerdell had filed their affinavits in support of the motion for a new trial. Mr. Merrick, of the counsel for the government, said: "I have had no opportunity of a personal communication with the Attorney-General, but in any emergency arising in the case, a counsel must perform his duty for himself, and take the responsibility. Neither have I had much opportunity of communicating with Attorney Bliss, I find some motions on file for a new trial in the case of the convicted defendents, accompan ed by statements of a variety of reasons, and by some afficavits. Among the reasons is one, namely: That the verdict is in itself unreasonable. As counsel for the government of the United States I am not disposed to put on file my consent to the granting of this motion, but as counsel for the United States I feel it my duty not to ops pose it. The government of the United States itself is not entirely satisfied by any means with this verdict. It is a verdict which subjects masters to retrial and convicts servants and minions The jury presumably found evidence of conspiracy to defraud the United States and of an overt act so as to create completed crime under the Statutes of the United Sates; that having been found by the jury prior to their determination of the conviction of the guity against Berdeli and Miner. There was left for them the sole inquirry as to who was in the conspiracy.

It was apparent to all men that the deeply guilty, in point of morals and law, was Kerdell and Miner. The crime they perpetrated was the sir, the government of the United States cannot consist ently with its dignity object by practical resistance to the motion made to set aside such a verdict and bring to trial again both masters and servanes, in order that fuljustice may be done. The government of the United States seeks no victim. It seeks simply justice, and when a verdict apparently wift a three days testival of the Mystic Orwith justice, it can't meet the aps der of the Oriole, closed to night proval of the government of the with a grand spectacular procession, United States. The report was that they had been at Gillis Taylor's house and had ordered him that if he informed on them or followed them he would be killed, Dr. B. B. Lenoir came up from Lenoir's on this same train. He informed us that they had information of the Taylor boys when they were within 7 miles of Kingston Thursday night, still riding the three horses taken from W. B. Hope, Wm. Bussell and Dr. Fouts. Dr. Lenoir states as was stated in our special from Loudon, that they came to him and had him dress John Taylor's wound in the left arm, which was not a serious one. They told h m what they had done; that if they had luck they would probably send him the money to pay for the surgical work, but if they didn't have luck he wouldn't set it.
